ATTORNEYS FOR PLAINTIFF

I. FORMAT OF PRODUCTION

A. Electronically Stored Information

Pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 34(b)(1)(C), Plaintiff requests that all electronically stored information responsive to these requests for production be produced in their native format along with their associated metadata intact.¹ If the Defendant objects to this format specification, it shall promptly notify the Plaintiff so the parties can meet and confer prior to the production of any electronically stored information by the Defendant.

B. Hard Copy Documents

Pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 34(b)(2)(E), Plaintiff requests that all hard-copy documents be produced in Portable Document Format (PDF) version 1.6. If the Defendant objects to this format specification, it shall promptly notify the Plaintiff so the parties can meet and confer prior to the production of any hard-copy documents by the Defendant.

II. DEFINITIONS

For the purposes of these requests for production, the following terms should be interpreted as follows:

1. The term “documents” means all writings of any kind, including the originals and all non-identical copies, whether different from the original by reason of notation made on such copies or otherwise, including without limitation distribution agreements, letters of intent, correspondence, electronically stored information, memoranda, notes, diaries, statistics, letters, telegrams, minutes, contracts, reports, studies, work papers, plats, films, tapes, receipts, returns, summaries, pamphlets, books, prospectuses, inter-office and intra-office communications, offers, notations or any sort of conversation, ledgers, invoices, contracts, billings, drawings, sketches, photographs, applications, financial statements, bank statements, bank debit and credit memoranda, loan ledgers, promissory notes, security agreements, deeds or trust, financing statements, records of any special or expense accounts, and any and all other writings, typings, printings or drafts or copies of reproductions thereof, irrespective of form, in your possession, custody or control.

2. The terms “you,” “your,” or “Defendant” include Kinderhook Industries, LLC, its agents, employees, consultants, attorneys, or any other past or present consultants or advisors to Kinderhook Industries, LLC.

III. INSTRUCTIONS

1. In responding to this written discovery, Kinderhook Industries, LLC is to give these requests a reasonable construction in conformity with the commonly understood meaning of the terms used. If the Defendant wishes to clarify its answers, it may include any reasonable definition of a term or phrase at issue. Additionally, if the Defendant finds any of the terms used in these requests it contends are vague or ambiguous, Kinderhook Industries, LLC shall specifically show such vagueness and/or ambiguity at issue.

2. In responding to this written discovery, if Kinderhook Industries, LLC claims that any request herein is overly broad and/or unduly burdensome, the Defendant has the obligation to provide sufficient detail and explanation about the nature of the burden in terms of money, time and procedure which would be required to provide the requested information to enable the Court to make an appropriate determination.

3. The documents and electronically stored information sought in these requests are to be understood as requesting only those documents and electronically information that are not privileged. Any documents and electronically stored information that are responsive but shielded from discovery by a legally recognized privilege, Kinderhook Industries, LLC is required to provide Plaintiff with a privilege log pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(5)(A) at the time of production identifying the specific request the privilege log entry is responsive to.

4. Pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 34, Kinderhook Industries, LLC is required to answer these requests to the extent a request is not objectionable.

5. Any objection made by Kinderhook Industries, LLC to these requests must be made with specificity, and provide sufficient detail, explanation and support for its objections.
